Geography

We believe that through geography, our children will:

- Become curious and explorative thinkers with a diverse knowledge of the world and think like a geographer
- Become confident to question and observe places, measure and record data in various ways and analyse and present their findings
- Become resourceful, active citizens who have the skills to contribute to and improve the world around them
- Learn to explain features of the world including how they were formed, how they are interconnected and how they have changed over time
- Broaden their exploration of geographical skills and understanding through local fieldwork
